Colonial Town Meetings As scheduled

Check here to indicate that you would like a Colonial Town Meeting to take place at your school. The availability of Colonial Town Meetings is contingent upon adequate numbers of volunteers. If you check this item, you will be contacted to schedule a Colonial Town Meeting.

A representative of the Georgia Historical Society, along with costumed interpreters including Georgia's founder and 2008 Georgia Days honoree, James Edward Oglethorpe, address students on life in Georgia's past. A period of questions and answers allows students to gain further insight into what life might have been like for Oglethorpe and Georgia's first colonists. James Oglethorpe is portrayed by professional historical interpreter Scott Hodges, who brings thirty years of experience as a re-enactor to the role of Georgia's founder.
